

ONE HEALTH ONLINE GRADUATE CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

THIS IS PUBLIC HEALTH EDUCATION THAT SAVES LIVES.

The One Health Graduate Certificate program is based on the 'One Health' concept that health-related interactions among people, animals, and the environment have profound influences on disease risk, transmission, and prediction efforts. This certificate will prepare individuals to educate and inform people about One Health and those factors that continuously cause variation among the interacting processes between people, animals, and the environment.

Earning a graduate certificate is convenient, often takes less time, and is more affordable than traditional graduate programs. And, depending on their goals, students may later apply their course credit to a graduate degree.

The One Health Graduate Certificate requires only fifteen (15) credit hours of online coursework. To participate in the certificate program, students must apply to Auburn University, however, Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores are not required, and there is no minimum GPA prerequisite.

Enrollment will begin Fall 2018.

For more information, visit <http://sfws.auburn.edu/online-professional-graduate-certificate-programs/one-health/>.

THIS IS AUBURN.

SCHOOL OF FORESTRY
AND WILDLIFE SCIENCES