

Working with Nature
for Society's
Well-Being

College of Forestry, Wildlife & Environment

Master of Natural Resources (MNR)

The College of Forestry, Wildlife and Environment Master of Natural Resources (MNR) degree is an interdisciplinary course-based graduate program designed for current and aspiring professionals who wish to enhance their educational credentials and increase their knowledge and skills in the realm of natural resources.

This 30-credit hour professional degree is manageable to students of diverse academic backgrounds and busy work schedules and allows for the student to tailor the degree to their career interests and goals.

Students will be immediately connected to a curriculum that is applicable to current industry and specific issues within natural resources. A broad spectrum of courses are available and can be combined with one or more certificate programs specializing in:

• Restoration Ecology • Forest Finance and Investment • One Health

The MNR graduate program is convenient and flexible; it can be completed entirely online or through a combination of online and on-campus courses.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Non-thesis
- Convenient, online courses available
- Only 30 credit hours required
- Learn from expert faculty
- No testing or GRE required

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

- Before applying, please contact cfwegpo@auburn.edu to discuss your area of interest
- Apply easily online at <http://graduate.auburn.edu>
- Official undergraduate transcripts
- 2.75 GPA – exceptions considered with sufficient reasoning
- Resume and three letters of recommendation
- Letter of intent

Visit cfwe.auburn.edu for more information.

Contact Us

College of Forestry, Wildlife & Environment
Graduate Student Services
602 Duncan Drive • Auburn, AL 36849
334-844-1077 • cfwegpo@auburn.edu