This interdisciplinary curriculum prepares graduates for career fields in the emerging bio-based economy, including packaging, product manufacturing, supply chain, logistics and distribution, chemicals and energy, and construction. Graduates of this program are prepared for successful and rewarding careers contributing to developing and producing cost-effective, sustainable solutions to global environmental problems.

Choose your career.
- Sustainability Coordinator
- Environmental Compliance Specialist
- Materials Specialist
- Ecological Engineer
- Supply Chain Manager
- Distribution and Logistics Manager

100% of our graduates have either been employed or pursued graduate education.
GAIN REAL-WORLD EXPERIENCE THROUGH

• Study abroad
• Student clubs and organizations
• Undergraduate research
• Volunteering

YOUR CFWE EDUCATION BY THE NUMBERS

42 faculty mentors
3 professional advisors
23 average class size
6,000 acres of field lab and state-of-the-art facilities
$250,000+ awarded in merit scholarships

Inquire Today

cfwe.auburn.edu • workingwithnature@auburn.edu